Omaha, Nov 21—Yesterday one span of the bridge over the Mississippi at Rock Island went down with an engine and [illegible]. The train men all narrowly escaped uninjured. The cause of the accident was a misplaced switch which threw the engine off the track and against the bridge, when the span instantly gave way.

The Central Pacific Pays Up

The cash payments to the year 1879 will not be so large.

A SMALL "BLACK FRIDAY."

A Panic in the New York Stock Exchange

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

New York, Nov 21

The greatest excitement prevailed on Stock Exchange this morning and at one time a panic seemed inevitable. The scene on the floor at the exchange was most tremendous, and the rush to sell stocks was so great that prices dropped 3 and 4 per cent at a time [illegible] before half the hour of business had been over. Delaware and Hudson declined 20 per cent and the remainder of the list all way below 14 and 1 per cent. The men who are credited with this bear movement are Jay Gould, J R Keene, Russell Sage and Addison Comstock, aided by [illegible] speculators who rushed in and let stocks go at any price, fearing lest a panic would result in wiping their [illegible] out entirely. Many failures were [illegible] from this great fall in prices, but up to the present only one has been reported, [illegible] Livermore, 350 Broad street, who [illegible] this afternoon and notified the [illegible] of his inability to meet his engagements. After the first call there was a sharp [illegible] of 10 per cent in Delaware and [illegible], and the general list rallied 1 to 6 [illegible], but this was followed by another [illegible] shortly after midday, and quotations took another downward turn.

More of the Excitement.

New York, Nov 21—Between 2 and 3 [illegible] the depression in stocks continued. [illegible] have been wild and great. [illegible] of two or three per cent have occurred without exciting comment or surprise. [illegible] Northern Common, flopped down [illegible] Iron Mountain to $34 and still no [illegible] failures were announced. Edward Livermore, who suspended this morning, has [illegible] member of the board for many years [illegible] house has always been regarded as a [illegible]. It was explained at his office that [illegible] was due to a combination of circumstances likely at such time, namely [illegible] decline of ten per cent, and indifference on the part of customers to respond with promptness on call. Livermore is a man of wealth, but preferred to close [illegible] rather than suffer greater loss. He [illegible] suspension is only temporary and [illegible] as soon as the flurry is over.

The Cholera in Japan.

Yokohama, Nov. 1.—The latest cholera re[illegible] show upwards of 90,000 deaths. The [illegible] is expected to cease entirely by the [illegible] the year. Extraordinary precautionary measures for the future are to be applied [illegible] districts. It is now believed [illegible] the Japanese sanitary system is unsurpassed in the world.

[illegible] Issue of Government Notes

The question of illegal issue of government paper money is still under investigation. [illegible] reports continue to circulate, but are understood to be grossly exaggerated [illegible] speculative purposes. No positive facts [illegible] known, except that a certain number of [illegible] notes have been fraudulently [illegible]. The extent and method of the transaction are unrevealed.

[illegible] Relations—Gen. Grant's Views Receive Attention.

Great satisfaction is expressed in government circles at the friendly tone of the American press, respecting the violation of [illegible] by the German envoy last July. [illegible] of Grant's views on the Loo Choo question, published in the New York [illegible] last September, was received here with intense interest. It is now known that the government of Japan has been strongly [illegible] by Grant's warning against the [illegible] of European agents tending to a rupture between Japan and China [illegible] advantage of unscrupulous aliens. At [illegible] was there real danger of war but [illegible] admonitions emphasized the certain [illegible] peace.

[illegible] Duke of Genoa is cruising in Japanese [illegible] in the ship Vittor Pisani.

[illegible] Kawaji, chief of police, recently returned from a European journey died [illegible] October 15th.

[illegible] against Gen Grant presented a valuable drop curtain to the manager of the principal theater in Tokio. The manager now [illegible] in return a splendid set of harness ornamented with gold lacquer.

[illegible] journeying homeward received complimentary demonstrations at [illegible] and Nagasaki the central and southern open ports of Japan.

The Corean port, called Gensan, is about to [illegible] Japanese trade. Commercial returns [illegible] and Corea for the year ended June [illegible] 1879 show the exports from Corea to be [illegible] value of $450,000 and imports into [illegible] $160,000; mostly shirtings.

Consul Mosby Again

Hongkong, Oct 23—There is a sensation at [illegible] caused by the quarrel between [illegible] and Governor Hennessy. The latter [illegible] desirous to obtain full official information concerning the opium traffic between [illegible] and Macao in order to check [illegible] illegal practices applied to Mosby for [illegible] of United States records of shipments. [illegible] the governor alleges the request was made [illegible] the public good, and with perfect courtesy [illegible] having been preferred to other for[illegible] consuls and willingly responded to [illegible] alleges that the request implied the [illegible] of a right to inspect consular documents, which he was bound [illegible] American citizens regret that the United States consul has broken relations with the governor [illegible] great attention and consideration. [illegible]

The Attempted Outrage in Maine

New York, Nov 21—Apropos of the [illegible] that the state authorities of Maine have [illegible] certificates of election [illegible] a majority in both branches of the legislature, the Tribune says [illegible] fraud can be shown in [illegible] by stating that the republicans [illegible] of nineteen senators to twelve [illegible] opposition and ninety one representatives [illegible] to sixty [illegible]. The pretext upon which this [illegible] popular verdict is to be reversed [illegible] by the republicans [illegible] and that by a singular coincidence the [illegible] state officials find votes only [illegible] can towns to have been invalidated in [illegible] way.

THE INDIANS.

Report of Commissioner Hayt as to the Condition of the Indians—Legislation Asked for—Southern California Missions

[illegible]

But [illegible] desiring to [illegible] their own purposes [illegible] has threatened the Indians with [illegible] together with the conflicts arising from trespass by horses and cattle belonging to [illegible] upon lands of ranchmen and settlers has kept these poor people in hot water for two years past until at the present [illegible] most abject poverty to be found anywhere on the American continent. Several small reservations have been set apart by an executive order for these Indians, but on account of lack of water for irrigating purposes and consequent sterility of the soil they have been found to be of little value. Moreover the agent reports that his efforts during the past year to suppress the sale of intoxicating liquors to his Indians have not met with gratifying success.

Attention is invited to the annual report of Mr Lawson, agent for the Mission Indians, and in view of the facts therein [illegible] probably $6,000 will be needed to secure sufficient land to enable these Indians to support themselves by their own labor.

Commissioner Hayt says concerning Indian prisoners of war taken to Yakima Agency last winter, that they have received a very careful training and have been improved in every respect. He adds that [illegible] civilization is carried on at the Yakima Agency on business principles. The [illegible] aim of the service are kept constantly in view. No time is lost in the [illegible] and every Indian is put to work to earn his own subsistence and work out his civilization. The 300 Indians now in the vicinity of the Malheur Agency and Forts McDermott and Bidwell should also be sent to Yakima. The Malheur Agency should be abolished and lands included in the reservation should be appraised and sold, the proceeds of sale to be invested for the benefit of the Indians.

The Springfield (Mass.) Republican prints an interview with Tilden in which the claimant virtually withdraws and expresses himself in favor of Charles Francis Adams for the presidency.

Gen Godfrey Weitzel, major of engineers, is constructing a lock on the Sault Sainte Marie, Michigan, which will be the largest lift lock in the world. It is 515 feet long, 80 feet broad, lifts 18 feet and the gates will admit vessels of 60 feet beam.

THE CUSTOMS OF COLORADO

Monte Jim and Hen Brown played a heavy game of cards at Eagle City. They quarreled when there was a stake of $2000 on the table, leveled their revolvers and fired three shots apiece. Jim was killed and Hen may not recover. The money is in the hands of the mayor of the town. The most distressing part of the affair consists in the fact that the local paper fails to state which man was bluffing.

It is not perhaps wholly a sinecure—the position of minister of the Gospel in Leadville. The big brothers of a young lady having compelled her lover to fulfill his promise of marriage, the lively episode is reported: "During the ceremony the bridegroom being dissatisfied with some performance of the clergyman fired his revolver at the divine, but as he missed his shot, the bullet only whizzing past the reverend gentleman's ear, the latter continued the discharge of his sacred functions until the twain were one flesh. Thereupon in order that all things might be done in the best style and according to old fashioned rule, he stepped forward and kissed the bride. At this the jealous bridegroom was wroth and smote him. Whereupon the reverend church militant, he being a brawny priest of some six feet in height, sprang over the chancel railing and seizing the newly made husband by the back of the neck gave him, under the cover of the pistols of the newly-made brothers in law, such a dreadful drubbing that he will remember it as long as he lives. This closed the marriage solemnities."

Property Rights of Married Women

The legislature of Washington territory at its recent session passed the following act to establish and protect the rights of married women:

Be it enacted, etc. SECTION 1. All laws which impose or recognize civil disabilities upon a wife which are not imposed or recognized as existing as to the husband are hereby abolished. [illegible] That this shall not confer the right to vote [illegible] upon the wife except [illegible] provided by law, and for every [illegible] injury [illegible] her [illegible] or property rights she shall have the same right to appeal in her own name to the courts of law or equity for redress and protection that the husband has.

SEC. 2. Henceforth the rights and the responsibilities of the parents [illegible] shall be equal and [illegible] shall be [illegible] entitled to the custody and control and earnings of the children as the father, and in case of the [illegible] estate [illegible] death.

SEC. 3. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

A Fiendish Outrage.

Boise City, Nov 21—On Wednesday at about 1 o'clock A M, while George Holbrook's daughter, a girl sixteen years old, who lives forty miles below here on the Boise river, was out no more than forty yards from the house, a stout built middle aged man came up behind her out of some brush unobserved, caught her and choked her so that she could not speak and ravished her. The girl made a desperate struggle and had her clothes nearly torn off her. She soon after got to the house where there was no one but her mother and little children. Her father was sent for a mile off and the neighborhood turned out fifty strong and hunted all day Wednesday and are still hunting for the man. He appears to be a stranger in the neighborhood and is supposed to belong to a gang of cattle drivers. The excitement is great and if the right man is caught he will be hung without ceremony.

GRANT AND THE SOUTH

A Decided Expression of Southern Feeling in Favor of Grant for a Third Term—The Phenomenon—Changes of Politics

[illegible] We want him as president in the interest of the whole country. We will now join with you in electing Grant [illegible] with the [illegible] that by so doing he will [illegible] himself president of the whole country and will co-operate with the south in an effort to obliterate sectional feeling and sectional hate.

The Herald has a letter from Atlanta which says: The most careless observer cannot fail to [illegible] in favor of a non partisan support of Grant for the next presidency is working its way [illegible] the democratic [illegible] in Georgia. Your correspondent after weeks of investigation has found a manifestation of this sentiment in almost every quarter except among the great democratic leaders. Among merchant, lawyer [illegible] and young [illegible] politicians there are to be found men outspoken in favor of Grant. The Herald correspondent, [illegible] giving reasons for this new departure which are substantially as above stated, reports a conversation with some of the representative men of the state who heartily favor the project and are already casting about for some well known southern democrat for vice president on the ticket with Grant. The correspondent further says: Strong democratic leaders as well as republicans generally are perplexed at the strange turn things are taking.

The Times devotes a leader to the subject wherein it says: Remarkable but perfectly intelligible expressions of southern democratic opinion with regard to the availability of Grant as a distinctively national nominee for the presidency derive additional significance from the attitude maintained by Grant since his return and from the tone of his speeches on the Pacific coast and at Chicago. It is certain that the tendency of the speeches referred to is to stimulate the movement which superficial writers confess their inability to understand. The nature of the southern movement is an effort of despair, but they consider Grant better than his party and better than Tilden. The south is rapidly getting over its sentimentalism. It has learned lessons out of northern books and is slowly becoming practical. Sticking to the democratic party simply to spite the republican party is found to be an unprofitable operation. People who desire to see the south improving and prosperous do not propose to tie themselves to the tail of the democratic kite any longer, and many of them have the idea that by coming to the front as supporters of Grant on national as distinguished from partisan grounds they would break down the barrier of hate and distrust and attract to the south things it most needs to make it equal in respect of material development to the east and west. With characteristic firmness and with a sense of self respect which entitles him to honor, Grant has refused to be paraded as the special property of politicians who would use him for their own benefit or as the champion of a party willing to [illegible] its knee to tender him its leadership. Old comrades in arms have always been welcome; partisans who cling like barnacles to his administrations, disfiguring and weakening them on all occasions, have as uniformly received the cold shoulder. He has not allowed himself to be exhibited as a partisan lion nor has he been tempted to give aid and comfort to partisan schemes of any sort. He has acted as independently of party feeling and party friendships as though he had never cherished either. Any one may see that he has brought home a truer conception of conditions under which government is effectively administered than was apparent in other days. His generous, magnanimous and patriotic sentiments expressed to ex confederates at San Francisco are the words employed by A. H. Stephens to characterize one of Grant's speeches. In Oregon he spoke of the common rights and interests of unionists and ex confederates in a manner which some of the eastern stalwarts resented as a surrender of their position. His anti sectionalism however reappears distinctly in his Chicago address. Responding to the greeting of the army of the Tennessee, he referred to "those who fought and fought bravely on the opposite side from us," in a strain that would startle super loyal orators who lately reached the doctrine of extermination. At the banquet on the following evening he rebuked those gentlemen who go about urging the necessity of reconquering the south by offering counsel which to them must sound like treason. "Let us be true to ourselves," he said. "Avoid all bitterness and ill feeling either on the part of sections or parties toward each other. Avoid quarrels among ourselves and we need have no fears for the future." Sound as it is, the advice will grate on the ears of partisans who have singled out Grant for performing the bloody work of a conqueror required to fulfill [illegible], but such as these are expressions which reconcile many southern democrats to Grant as president for a third term and which partially explains the friendly feeling with which he is now regarded by the non political portion of southern people.

The Election Cases in San Francisco

The San Francisco Bulletin, discussing the scheme to oust the officials elected by the workingmen, says that the same scheme will oust the republican supervisors of the city, as their party pledged its nominees to larger and more specific retrenchment than the workingmen. It adds:

Con[illegible] sugar in [illegible] may [illegible] as a test of the [illegible]. The amount [illegible] in the United States may be judged by comparing its value with that of the gold and silver produ[illegible] discovery of these metals on the Pacific [illegible] in 1848 till now our total yield of gold and silver has been about $1,500,000,000. During the same time the people of the United States have imported mostly from Cuba sugar and syrup to the value of $1,850,000,000. In other words during thirty years of the greatest production of the precious metals ever known we have paid out to foreign countries for sugar more than the entire product of our mines in addition to the sugar manufactured in our own country which however has never [illegible] a large proportion of the a[illegible] In view of this immense consumption of foreign sugar it is evident that any discovery or process by which its domestic production can be increased will be of great importance. The area of territory in the United States which can be devoted to the profitable culture of sugar cane is small being limited mainly to certain districts in Louisiana and still smaller districts in Texas. Many efforts have been made to establish the beet sugar industry in different parts of the country but as yet the actual results are not considerable nor even encouraging. Many still believe however that we shall yet produce beet sugar in great quantities and also with profit as in France and Germany. But now it is claimed that a more hopeful prospect for the introduction of sugar is discovered in a variety of sorghum known as early amber. Sorghum has been cultivated in different parts of the country for many years but never very profitably nor with large results the principal difficulty being that it did not ripen till late and was almost invariably destroyed or injured by frost. The early amber not only matures considerably sooner than the ordinary variety of sorghum but is more productive of saccharine matter more easily treated and yields a better quality of sugar and syrup. The credit of introducing the plant, belongs it is said, to Gen Le Duc, commissioner of agriculture who obtained a small quantity of the seed from abroad and by judicious distribution has succeeded in giving it a firm foothold. It has been grown in all the middle and many of the southern states and its success is an assured fact. Best results have been attained in Minnesota, but that is because the subject has received most careful and intelligent attention there. According to Commissioner Le Duc, an acre of land that will produce forty bushels of corn will produce one hundred and seventy five gallons of early amber syrup, weighing twelve pounds to the gallon, or two thousand pounds to the acre. "This syrup under the process now in use, and easy of application, will divide into one thousand pounds of sugar and one thousand pounds of syrup. The producer of the cane, if he have the machinery can manufacture this sugar and syrup for himself. If, however, as must necessarily be the case, one establishment for boiling the cane and for the production of the sugar and syrup will answer for a large district the product divided equally between the farmer and the manufacturer will yield the farmer $30 an acre for his cane." Machinery for the manufacture of sugar from this variety of sorghum is now made in Chicago and St Louis, and the number of mills called for shows that the new industry is having a rapid and even extensive growth. One mill near Chicago, it is said will produce 250 barrels of sugar a day this year. The plant is easily cultivated, its treatment being quite similar to that of corn and its richness in saccharine matter is such that the product of a single acre will furnish enough for a good sized family a year. The commissioner expresses a belief that in five years from the present time this plant will be so generally cultivated in the United States as to cause a large decline in the importation of sugars, and he considers it entirely practicable for us, in a few years longer time, to produce not only all the sugar and syrup needed for home consumption, but enough to make it an important article of export. From the description given of the plant we believe it may be successfully cultivated on the Pacific slope, and particularly in the districts east of the Cascade Mountains. The commission deems it far more practicable than the project of producing sugar from beets, which depends on many contingencies of climate and soil, requires particularly skillful treatment, and withal is very expensive and often uncertain in its results.

THE IRISH LAND TROUBLES.

The present agitation of the Irish land question with the social and political turmoil attendant upon it, is merely the eruption of an old sore. It is only another sign of an imposthume which is the formation of centuries and though it often, or indeed usually presents little outward appearance of the inward disorder yet when anything happens to irritate or aggravate it, the sore breaks out afresh. Long ago the lands of Ireland were confiscated by English conquerors and the former owners reduced to vassalage. Their descendants, the present tenantry are kept virtually in the same condition. Hard landlords drive hard bargains. In a year of short crops the results are distraint, oppression hunger and sometimes starvation. Then as might be expected, popular turbulence ensues and anti rent agitation, as now is the order of the day. No doubt the system, particularly in a hard year is one of cruel oppression. Just now there is a widespread confederacy among the tenants not to pay rent or at least not to pay it without large reduction from the agreed price. It is probable, indeed that owing to the failure of crops, many are actually unable to pay. The landlord is th[illegible], and occasionally he or his agent is shot. Sometimes a tenant who may be able or disposed to pay is warned or even killed if he pays more than the rate established by the confederate tenantry. Of course the small farmers who are combined to enforce reduction of rents are reinforced by the more violent classes who find occupation and profit in any kind of disturbance. And of course, too noisy demagogues come to the front. Several who have been making inflammatory speeches have recently been arrested and this as might have been expected increases the agitation. It is probable that the scheme of the movement really aims at possession of the lands of the country and though this is impossible it is no surprising that a people should wish to recover property wrested from them [illegible] and robbery and [illegible] their oppression. There [illegible] in Ireland [illegible] haps [illegible] no danger of the recurrence of a famine [illegible] of 184[illegible] Yet all information [illegible] the country will not be able to [illegible] the [illegible] winter and spring [illegible] The distress is [illegible] in the west of Ireland where [illegible] agitation now most prevails.

[illegible] SOUTHERN [illegible]

[illegible] a story is in circulation that a well defined movement is taking place in the south in favor of Grant for the presidency. The [illegible] we are told is making him the candidate of that section with a view to stopping the controversy between the north and the south in which the latter sees that [illegible] a great disadvantage. That is on th[illegible] of pal[illegible] twenty five years the south proposes to come to judgment once for all and take the case out of court. The recent decision of the people of the [illegible] states on the issues [illegible] made by the democratic managers in congress and b[illegible] the country at [illegible] convinces the s[illegible] so the story goes that it has nothing to hope from the democratic party. In its [illegible] to turn to Grant and [illegible] break [illegible] the [illegible]

[illegible] who [illegible] red [illegible] was [illegible] event [illegible] The [illegible] every [illegible] strange [illegible] possible [illegible] are [illegible] But [illegible] what [illegible] H[illegible] The [illegible] [illegible] gain [illegible] They [illegible] they have [illegible] can win on the [illegible] states [illegible] are [illegible] now when [illegible] war [illegible] they will be [illegible] and it will be as hard [illegible] an[illegible] democrats [illegible] cover a representative of the [illegible] in the south which was to be carried into the vasty deep of oblivion by the benignant policy of President Hayes.

No such change of policy as the scheme supposes can take place in a political party and if it could a change of policy is not change of heart. Such a movement on the part of the south would however if it were possible leave the northern [illegible] in a [illegible] state of political orphanage.

CONSCIOUS FORGERY.

An important part of the evidence on which the democratic managers in Maine are endeavoring to make up a case to justify their intended proceeding to set aside the results of the recent election in that state upon charges of fraud and corruption is the following document alleged to have been written by Senator Blaine to a political friend just prior to the election.

> See every man in your district and find out how he is going to vote. If he is a republican and weak kneed see what will strengthen him. If he is a democrat or greenbacker see what will induce him to vote with us. Make up a statement of the amount of money which you will need for all expenses and forward at once.
> JAMES G BLAINE

This was published in the Boston Globe of Nov 1 being part of a mass of evidence as to alleged corruption furnished by a Maine correspondent. Mr Blaine happening to be in Boston immediately addressed the following note to the editor of the Globe who, however refused it an insertion whereupon it was published in the Journal

> PARKER HOUSE, BOSTON, Nov 1 1879
>
> To the Editor of the Boston Globe. In your issue of to day your Maine correspondent quotes the following letter as having been written by me during the late political campaign (see letter above).
> Permit me to state that your correspondent has either been deceived himself or is attempting to deceive the public. I never wrote such a letter to any one, nor was any such letter circulated by my authority or with my knowledge. It is simply a forgery and it may be well for you to inquire who is the forger. Very respectfully J G BLAINE

During the month of October the elevated railways in the city of New York, carried a total of 4,956,853 passengers or an average of about 160,000 a day. It is believed that when the lines as now projected are completed the elevated railways of the city will carry not less than 100,000,000 passengers a year. The business of these railways is a significant attestation of the magnitude of New York. The cheap fares and rapid transit are of incalculable benefit to the working classes of the city. And the roads have added untold millions to the wealth of New York in the increased value they have given to real estate in the upper parts of the city which before the roads were in operation were inconveniently remote from the business centers.

The New York Herald says that before the late election the republican party of that state managed by the Conkling politicians was fast ceasing to be republican and becoming a mere tail to the Grant movement. But the vote shows that New York is not a Grant state at all; that the attempt to make the great republican party a mere bob to the Grant movement kite is an open failure and that the election has released the republicans of the country from their one really great danger.

The planet Mars now unusually brilliant more so indeed, than since 1877 is the most striking object in the evening sky not even Jupiter excepted. Indeed it almost or quite rivals Jupiter in apparent size. The rich ruddy color of Mars unlike that of any other planet easily serves to distinguish it and adds greatly to its splendor. The present opportunity is being improved by astronomers in all parts of the world to catch a glimpse of Mars two little moons.

Nine schools of New York turned away from their primary departments 1190 children during September and October having no room for their accommodation. More than 6 0 other children were compelled to wait several weeks before gaining admission to the same schools. There is room enough however in the higher departments, for which the primary schools are neglected.

Since the New York election the Washington Post which aspires to be the national organ of the democracy and which has always heretofore been a warm advocate of Tilden goes back on the claimant and demands that he stand aside.

Desert land entries during the last fiscal year aggregate 29,000 acres in Montana 3 000 in Nevada 15,000 in Arizona 6000 in Oregon and 14,000 in California.

New Armory Hall

The [illegible] in the matches at Armory hall [illegible] steadily [illegible] eighty laps [illegible] greet the [illegible] continue as they spurt [illegible]

The event of the past three days has been the [illegible] hour go as you please match between Miss [illegible] Bag[illegible] T B Sturges of this city The lady was defeated after a game struggle with [illegible] miles [illegible] 60 She sustained a severe injury to her ankle [illegible] her first [illegible] from which she had not fully recovered when she entered on the tramp with Sturges [illegible] however in defeat [illegible] for her [illegible]

Mr Sturges the victor has some local celebrity as a walker of endurance he having [illegible] both lady champions At the conclusion of the match the applause which greeted him was [illegible] and considerable difficulty was experienced in keeping the crowd off the track so eager were they to tender their congratulations to both victor and vanquished While the distance covered was not quite up to the average the result of the race was highly satisfactory to all parties concerned and passed off pleasantly. On the whole it was a display of pedestrianism, the like of which will not soon again be seen in this city

The lady quarter mile walkers Misses Florence and Wiley are as bright as ever and many were the attempts on the part of the audience last evening to get them to let out all of which they studiously avoided preferring to reserve all their energies for the last when they propose to show what they can do after being on the track 15 days continuously

Tonight representatives from the military companies engage in a three day walk which promises to be an interesting display and is likely to draw largely during its progress

TWO AND A HALF MILLION DOLLARS.

Capt. Charles Thorn of the Steamer "California" a Probable Heir to that Sum from Deceased Relatives in England

It happens every little while that news is received that immense estates in England are ready to be divided and that heretofore unknown heirs are to be found in America. This time an heir to a colossal fortune is located in Portland A letter has been awaiting Capt. Thorn of the steamer California for the last week bringing the information that he is one of one hundred and fifty heirs to an estate valued at the enormous sum of $388 000 000. The letter came into Captain Thorn's hands Thursday night on his arrival from Sitka and is addressed to him by a relative in Glen Cove Long Island who is also an heir An OREGONIAN reporter who had heard of the receipt of the letter called at the residence corner Third and Salmon streets last night where he found Capt Thorn reclining in an easy chair enjoying his post prandial cigar with that complete degree of satisfaction which is felt by good seamen who have the consciousness of arduous duty well done. On making known his mission our reporter was furnished with a plain succinct statement of the heirship, which is as follows

About 200 years ago two brothers named Hyde bachelor East India merchants, died having bequeathed to their brother, John Hyde, an immense fortune which was deposited in the Bank of England and which has remained there and drawn interest until it has reached the sum of £90 000 000 John Hyde was the grandfather of John Fry and the latter was the maternal grand father of Capt Charles Thorn and John Thorn John Fry had only one child Capt Thorn's mother and she left two heirs Charles and John Thorn The latter is supposed to be dead The Hyde family of New York have been investigating the case and inform Capt. Thorn that he is an equal heir with about one hundred and fifty others and if his brother John died without offspring he will be entitled to two shares of the estate and that the directors of the Bank of England have signified their willingness to pay over the amount on the 1st of January next to the rightful heirs

Capt Thorn will telegraph to New York to-day for further information and if necessary will go east without delay It is certainly to be hoped that this good fortune is in store for the jolly captain than whom a more faithful competent commander never trod the deck.

COURT NOTES

County court was in session yesterday

There was no session of the police court yesterday

The U S district court met yesterday but adjourned without transacting any business

The trial of John A Carr indicted for bribery will commence in the state circuit court next Wednesday

A man named James Winslow was arrested yesterday on a warrant issued from Justice Bybee's court, charged with assault

Yesterday the attention of the county court was principally occupied in the consideration of the petition for the appointment of a guardian for Mrs. N Naylor an insane person The matter was taken under advisement by Judge Rice

Judge Bellinger fixed this morning as the time for passing sentence against young Burroughs convicted of the crime of assault with intent to commit rape A motion for a new trial has been interposed, which will be argued before Judge Bellinger this morning

The jury in the state circuit court in the case of State of Oregon vs. Miss Bonoche indicted for keeping a bawdy house brought in a verdict last evening of guilty as charged.

The jury in the case of State of Oregon vs. Miss Valentine indicted for the same offense returned a verdict of acquittal

A Chinawoman named Jung was examined yesterday before Justice Davis on a charge of embezzlement. The testimony was deemed sufficiently conclusive to warrant the woman being held to await the action of the grand jury Her bonds were fixed at $500 It appears that Jung is the widow of one Ah Jack who died several years ago in this city Ah Jack at the time of his death left two children in China by a former wife Jung was executrix of the estate but it seems that she neglected to divide the money between the two children as was intended by Ah Jack When this came to the knowledge of some of the friends of the deceased they made application to have a new administrator appointed This was done and the new administrator made a demand that Jung should pay over the money due the children amounting in the aggregate to $2675 She refused to comply with the request and criminal prosecution was commenced against her with the result above mentioned

SATURDAY MORNING, NOV. 22, 1879.

Written for the Oregonian.

THE MOTHER'S VIGIL.

The day and the year were a-dying together,
Crimson to crimson, and gold unto gold,
And the pine, dropping burrs in the sweet Autumn weather,
Sadly and softly its rosary told,
As we leaned on our guns and looked over the city,
Enthroned in the days that eternally thrill;—
And one stood in silence, and one hummed a ditty
Of a love that was lost, and a wheel that was still.

* * * * * *

There was silence down there in the desolate ditches—
Only the querulous call of the quail—
Scolding her brood from the tunnels and pitches
To the chaparral shades and the leaf covered trail.

There was silence down there, but that silence sang dirges,
Hopelessly sad to the sorrowing soul—
So hopelessly sad, like the wail of wild surges
Gone mad in the gleam of their wandering goal
"And whither," I murmured, "in chances and changes,
Gliding and sailing, a curse and caress,
Now wanders the spoil of the gold-glutted ranges—
A crown for dishonor, a balm for distress"

"And the toilers, where are they? the bronzed and the knighted,
Gentle as childhood and cruel as fire,—
What hope was fulfilled, and what love was requited—
Ah, what was the fate of their kingly desire?
Lo, dirges of silence, the crested quail calling
Answer me vaguely in mystical woe,
And the glory of sunset, in benison falling,
Fills the deserted old gulches below.

"The pick and the shovel are rusted and broken,
Faded the fires of cabin and tent,—
For the long roll has sounded, the chieftain has spoken,
And the owl sobs alone on the hills that were rent,
With a whisper, a sound as of robes that are trailing,
October is furling her banners of red,
And my heart is bowed down in the infinite wailing
That times the innumerous march of the dead."

"It is true," said my comrade, regretfully, lowly—
"Death and expenses are all that are sure,
And we con the old lesson but hardly and slowly
To follow and follow some fanciful lure;
And yet," and he thoughtfully leveled a finger
Over the sheen of the storm cradled town,
"There's a smoke on yon hillside that somehow will linger
Like a mist on the shore when the tide has gone down.

"Have you marked it—a luminous violet column
On the gold and the bronze of the frost tinted trees—
Soaring to victory, saintly and solemn,
With the wreathed immortelles that Fidelity weaves?
It is only the smoke of a cabin, so humble
The squirrels romp o'er it unchecked by reproof,—
Grimy and shaky, I wonder the rumble
Of the wagons down there does not shatter its roof.

"In the tempests of years that we fain are forgetting,
When cards were religion and pistols were priests,—
And the sun rode in scarlet at dawning and setting,
And a Bourbon was crowned at our fun'rals and feasts—
Yon oak that leans grandly, a Culdee extending
His priestly hands o'er that ruinous cot,
Once thrilled to the shock of a ghastly descending,
And the Law was avenged with a loop and a knot!

"He was only an Indian, the son of Old Mary,
Swarthy and wild, with a midnight of hair
That arose, as he sped to the Lethean ferry,
Like a raven of doom in the quivering air.
And his crime? I've forgotten—it was something or other—
Judge Lynch's decisions were never compiled;—
But we left him, at last, with his forest-bord mother—
And she camped by the tree that had strangled her child.

"Alone—when the sombre and skeleton branches
Thrilled in the rush of the shipwrecking storm,
And the glad little children, in hamlets and ranches,
Laughed at the ingle side, ruddy and warm;
Alone, when the sibyls of Spring time, returning,
Flung over the forests an emerald mist—
And alone—when the stars of midsummer were burning,
And the muskroses dreamed of the god they had kissed,

"While the years have gone on, and the flush times have faded
Even the smoke of her vigil ascends,
And the oak, all the while, that poor altar has shaded,
Like a penitent soul, that would make some amends.
And still, from his ashes, the dead day arises,
A blossoming wonder of beauty and truth,
And the myrtle-wreathed moon, in all gentle disguises,
Remembers, and twines her a chaplet of ruth.

"Te Deums may roll in the gloom of old arches,
And the white-handed preacher coquette with his God,
But Truth finds her own in long battles and marches,
And the flowers will shine on that tear-sprinkled sod,
When the fire has gone out and the vigil is ended
Poor Mary may sleep with the loved and the leal,
For the stars will mount guard o'er the ashes she tended,
And the beauty of Morning return there to kneel."

Domestic Produce.

The unsettled and fluctuating condition of the wheat market for some days past, has been puzzling to the best posted and sharpest dealers in that cereal. Holders and those who would be buyers, of course regard it from different standpoints, and the aspects which it presents to them causes a difference in their views of from 5 to 10 cents per cental. Trade is a little slow at the quotations found elsewhere. Since the season begun, but few cases have occurred, however, in which vessels suffered delay in consequence of charterers not being able to secure all the grain needed to load them. Twenty six vessels have loaded Oregon wheat and flour for Europe since harvest, and seven more are nearly finished, while five others are also on the berth for the same cargo and destination, most of which will be completed by the beginning of next month. The number loaded up to Dec 1st last year was thirty. Thus it will be seen that notwithstanding the slowness of the movement in direct shipments which characterized the earlier part of the season, that they have reached about as great a figure as last year, in the corresponding months.

There are now only two disengaged vessels in port, but even with this apparent scarcity of tonnage, the market shows some signs of weakening, and it is believed that to effect charters ships would have to make concessions of rates.

Flour is in fair demand and buyers find but little but what is firmly held at full rates, and the price for wheat must decline materially before any downward tendency in the rates for flour can be manifested.

Oats are coming forward quite freely, and with a fair demand prices are low. Mill feed, hay, etc., continue in good request and prices are somewhat improved. Potatoes and onions are plentiful, and there being but little call for shipment, quotations, generally very low, depend much upon the quality of the product and the wants of buyers. Provisions show some improvement all round, choice bacon, hams and shoulders selling at an advance of 1c per ℔ on recent quoted prices. Lard is in good supply, but the demand is increased and sales are readily effected at quotations. Dairy products generally are active, and choice butter and cheese in request at the figures given below. Eggs are wanted, and the fancy figure of 40 cts is being paid, while thanksgiving day may see them worth 45 cts. Wool, hides etc., are selling readily at the quotations given below.

The steamship State of California from San Francisco arrived this evening. Four vessels have arrived since last Sunday and as many have left this port.

The number of vessels reported on the way to this port is 29, but as shippers are not generally inclined to give information on this head, the report may not be regarded as entirely reliable. At any rate there are a number now about due and should the foreign wheat market recuperate, as many pretty good judges think, we shall see an active and large movement after the turn of the year.

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—The market is unsteady, buyers and holders still entertaining a wide difference of opinion. Quotations ranging all the way from $1 90 to $2, but the latter would be hard to get while at the former, very little would be bought.

FLOUR—Standard brands are generally firm at $6 per bbl, country, $5 50 and superfine, $4 50. Demand fair.

MILL FEED—Under a fair demand prices are quotable at $15 per ton for bran, $22 50@25 for middlings.

HAY—The supply is not so large and dealers pay $15@17 50 per ton, the latter for choice timothy.

WOOL—Range according to quality from 18 cts for interior eastern to 20@25c for extra valley grades.

BACON—Good demand and stock moderate at 11@12½c ℔ ℔ for sides, 12½@13 cents for hams, and 7@8c for shoulders, quotations nominal.

LARD—The demand is supplied and the market steady at 10@11½ cents ℔ ℔ in tins and kegs.

CHICKENS—Very choice hens $3@3 50 per dozen, spring chickens, $2 50@3, according to condition.

EGGS—There is a fair inquiry at 40 cents per doz.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN

The Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast,

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

CHRONIC AND DIFFICULT DISEASES.

HAS RETURNED AFTER AN EXTENSIVE tour of the Eastern States, for the past four months. The Doctor while absent visited all the principal Medical institutions in the large cities of the United States, and comes back with all the modern methods, instruments and appliances known to the most scientific men in the profession. The Doctor has also brought charts and manikins to illustrate his lecture.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN has been fifteen years lecturing on the Laws of Life and Health. In his private and public lectures he has taught men and women the true system of life, how to be healthy and happy, if they would only be guided by his wise counsel. But all cannot hear his delightful and instructive lectures, nor can he tell everything necessary for suffering humanity to know from the public rostrum before a promiscuous audience. There remains much to be learned from him as his experience extends over broad fields of active professional life. This knowledge so necessary to the welfare of the sufferer can only be gleaned by private Professional Consultation at his office.

His experience in the various parts of Europe and America give him such opportunities of learning the delicate diseases which the human family are prone to, their mode of treatment and permanent cure, as no other physician on the Pacific Coast can claim. He has not only treated these diseases most successfully, but has made them a life study, as a few moments' consultation will prove.

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

Such as SPERMATORRHEA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two-thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring, either directly or indirectly, from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

IT IS TRUE

That persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit those diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Those who call in time upon DR. PAUL M. BRENAN need have no fear but what he will restore them to perfect health and vigor, make their body pure and their mind content, if they will only follow his advice and treatment.

Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint and all Diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder, he can cure without fail. No Quack Nostrums used; no slop treatment; no false promises.

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Consultation Free, and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult him personally. All fine Surgical Operations performed.

Office—No. 63 First street, between Oak and Pine.
Office Hours—From 10 to 12 A. M., 2 to 5 and 7 to 8 P. M. oct27tf

THE MOTHER'S VIGIL.

The day and the year were a-dying together,
Crimson to crimson, and gold unto gold,
And the pine, dropping burrs in the sweet autumn weather,
Sadly and softly its rosary told.
As we leaned on our guns and looked over the city,
Enthroned in the days that eternally thrill,—
And one stood in silence, and one hummed a ditty
Of a love that was lost, and a wheel that was still.

There was silence down there in the desolate ditches—
Only the querulous call of the quail—
Scolding her brood from the tunnels and pit-hus
To the chaparral shades and the leaf covered trail.

There was silence down there, but that silence sang dirges,
Hopelessly sad to the sorrowing soul—
So hopelessly sad, like the wail of wild surges
Gone mad in the gleam of their wandering goal
"And whither," I murmured, "in changes and changes,
Gilding and soiling, a curse and caress,
Now wanders the spoil of the gold-glutted ranges—
A crown for dishonor, a balm for distress?

"And the toilers, where are they? the bronzed and the knighted,
Gentle as childhood and cruel as fire,—
What hope was fulfilled, and what love was requited—
Ah, what was the fate of their kingly desire?
Lo, dirges of silence, the crested quail calling
Answer me vaguely in mystical woe,
And the glory of sunset, in benison falling,
Fills the deserted old gulches below.

"The pick and the shovel are rusted and broken,
Faded the fires of cabin and tent,—
For the long roll has sounded, the chieftain has spoken,
And the owl sobs alone on the hills that were rent.
With a whisper, a sound as of robes that are trailing,
October is furling her banners of red,
And my heart is bowed down in the infinite wailing
That times the innumerous march of the dead."

"It is true," said my comrade, regretfully, lowly,—
"Death and expenses are all that are sure,
And we con the old lesson but hardly and slowly
To follow and follow some fanciful lure;
And yet," and he thoughtfully leveled a finger
Over the sheen of the storm cradled town,
"There's a smoke on yon hillside that somehow will linger
Like a mist on the shore when the tide has gone down.

"Have you marked it—a luminous violet column
On the gold and the bronze of the frost tinted trees—
Soaring to victory, saintly and solemn,
With the wreathed immortelles that Fidelity weaves?
It is only the smoke of a cabin, so humble
The squirrels romp o'er it unchecked by reproof,—
Grimy and shaky, I wonder the rumble
Of the wagons down there does not shatter its roof.

"In the tempests of years that we fain are forgetting,
When cards were religion and pistols were priests—
And the sun rode in scarlet at dawning and setting,
And a Bourbon was crowned at our fun'rals and feasts—
Yon oak that leans grandly, a Culdee extending
His priestly hands o'er that ruinous cot,
Once thrilled to the shock of a ghastly descending,
And the Law was avenged with a loop and a knot!

"He was only an Indian, the son of Old Mary,
Swarthy and wild, with a midnight of hair
That arose, as he sped to the Lethean ferry,
Like a raven of doom in the quivering air,
And his crime? I've forgotten—it was something or other—
Judge Lynch's decisions were never compiled:—
But we left him, at last, with his forest-born mother—
And she camped by the tree that had strangled her child.

"Alone—when the sombre and skeleton branches
Thrilled in the rush of the shipwrecking storm,
And the glad little children, in hamlets and ranches,
Laughed at the ingle side, ruddy and warm;
Alone, when the sibyls of Spring time, returning,
Flung over the forests an emerald mist—
And alone—when the stars of midsummer were burning,
And the muskroses dreamed of the god they had kissed,

"While the years have gone on, and the flush times have faded
Even the smoke of her vigil ascends,
And the oak, all the while, that poor altar has shaded,
Like a penitent soul, that would make some amends.
And still, from his ashes, the dead day arises,
A blossoming wonder of beauty and truth,
And the myrtle-wreathed moon, in all gentle disguises,
Remembers, and twines her a chaplet of ruth.

"Te Deums may roll in the gloom of old arches,
And the white-handed preacher coquette with his God,
But Truth finds her own in long battles and marches,
And the flowers will shine on that tear-sprinkled sod.
When the fire has gone out and the vigil is ended
Poor Mary may sleep with the loved and the leal,
For the stars will mount guard o'er the ashes she tended,
And the beauty of Morning return there to kneel."

Domestic Produce.

The unsettled and fluctuating condition of the wheat market for some days past, has been puzzling to the best posted and sharpest dealers in that cereal. Holders and those who would be buyers, of course regard it from different standpoints, and the aspects which it presents to them causes a difference in their views of from 5 to 10 cents per cental. Trade is a little slow at the quotations found elsewhere. Since the season began, but few cases have occurred, however, in which vessels suffered delay in consequence of charterers not being able to secure all the grain needed to load them. Twenty six vessels have loaded Oregon wheat and flour for Europe since harvest, and seven more are nearly finished, while five others are also on the berth for the same cargo and destination, most of which will be completed by the beginning of next month. The number loaded up to Dec 1st last year was thirty. Thus it will be seen that notwithstanding the slowness of the movement in direct shipments which characterized the earlier part of the season, that they have reached about as great a figure as last year, in the corresponding months.

There are now only two disengaged vessels in port, but even with this apparent scarcity of tonnage, the market shows some signs of weakening, and it is believed that to effect charters ships would have to make concessions of 3@5s.

Flour is in fair demand and buyers find but little but what is firmly held at full rates, and the price for wheat must decline materially before any downward tendency in the rates for flour can be manifested.

Oats are coming forward quite freely, and with a fair demand prices are low. Mill feed, hay, etc., continue in good request and prices are somewhat improved. Potatoes and onions are plentiful, and there being but little call for shipment, quotations, generally very low, depend much upon the quality of the product and the wants of buyers. Provisions show some improvement all round, choice bacon, hams and shoulders selling at an advance of 1c per lb on recent quoted prices. Lard is in good supply, but the demand is increased and sales are readily effected at quotations. Dairy products generally are active, and choice butter and cheese in request at the figures given below. Eggs are wanted, and the fancy figure of 40 cts is being paid, while thanksgiving day may see them worth 45 cts. Wool, hides etc., are selling readily at the quotations given below.

The steamship State of California from San Francisco arrived this evening. Four vessels have arrived since last Sunday and as many have left this port.

The number of vessels reported on the way to this port is 25, but as shippers are not generally inclined to give information on this point, the report may not be regarded as entirely reliable. At any rate there are a number now about due and should the foreign wheat markets continue as many pretty good judges think, we shall see an active and large movement after the turn of the year.

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—The market is unsteady, buyers and holders still entertaining a wide difference of opinion. Quotations ranging all the way from $1 90 to $2, but the latter would be hard to get while at the former very little would be bought.

FLOUR—Standard brands are generally firm at $6 per bbl, country, $5 50 and superfine, $4 50. Demand fair.

MILL FEED—Under a fair demand prices are quotable at $16 per ton for bran, $22 50@25 for middlings.

HAY—The supply is not so large and dealers pay $15@17 50 per ton, the latter for choice timothy.

WOOL—Range according to quality from 15 cts for inferior eastern to 25@26c for extra valley grades.

BACON—Good demand and stock moderate at 11 @12½c ₰ lb for sides, 12½@14 cents for hams, and 7@8c for shoulders, quotations nominal.

LARD—The demand is supplied and the market steady at 10@11¼ cents ₰ lb in tins and kegs.

CHICKENS—Very scarce hens $3@5 per dozen, spring chickens $2 50@4 according to condition.

EGGS—There is a fair inquiry at 40 cents per doz.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN

The Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast.

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

CHRONIC AND DIFFICULT DISEASES.

HAS RETURNED AFTER AN EXTENSIVE tour of the Eastern States, for the past four months. The Doctor while absent visited all the principal Medical institutions in the large cities of the United States, and comes back with all the modern methods, instruments and appliances known to the most scientific men in the profession. The Doctor has also brought charts and manikins to illustrate his lecture.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN has been fifteen years lecturing on the Laws of Life and Health. In his private and public lectures he has taught men and women the true system of life, how to be healthy and happy, if they would only be guided by his wise counsel. But all cannot hear his delightful and instructive lectures, nor can he tell everything necessary for suffering humanity to know from the public rostrum before a promiscuous audience. There remains much to be learned from him as his experience extends over broad fields of active professional life. This knowledge so necessary to the welfare of the sufferer can only be gleaned by private Professional Consultation at his office.

His experience in the various parts of Europe and America gave him such opportunities of learning the delicate diseases which the human family are prone to, their mode of treatment and permanent cure, as no other physician on the Pacific Coast can claim. He has not only treated these diseases most successfully, but has made them a life study, as a few moments' consultation will prove.

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

Such as SPERMATORRHEA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring, either directly or indirectly, from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

IT IS TRUE

That persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit those diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Those who call in time upon DR. PAUL M. BRENAN need have no fear but what he will restore them to perfect health and vigor, make their body pure and their mind content, if they will only follow his advice and treatment.

Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint and all Diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder, he can cure without fail. No Quack Nostrums used; no slop treatment; no false promises.

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Consultation Free, and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult him personally. All fine Surgical Operations performed.

Office—No. 53 First street, between Oak and Pine. Office Hours—From 10 to 12 A. M., 2 to 5 and 7 to 8 P. M. oc27tf
